Examination of Application #10/541,983

1. Claims 1-13 of application 11/541,983, filed on 11-July-2005, are pending in the application. The examiner respectfully presents a rejection under 101 as described below.

Claim Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefore, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2.1 Claims 6 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The invention claims reconstructing a surface of an object.

*>Descriptive material can be characterized as either “functional descriptive material” or “nonfunctional descriptive material.” In this context, “functional descriptive material” consists of data structures and computer programs which impart functionality when employed as a computer component. (The definition of “data structure” is “a physical or logical relationship among data elements, designed to support specific data manipulation functions.” The New IEEE Standard Dictionary of Electrical and Electronics Terms 308 (5th ed. 1993).) “Nonfunctional descriptive material” includes but is not limited to music, literary works, and a compilation or mere arrangement of data.

In view of the aforementioned requirement, the Examiner respectfully contends that the claim language of claim 13 does not claim a practical application, that language claiming a machine-readable medium having software for reconstructing a surface of an object. The medium holding instructions is determined to recite data embodied on a computer-readable medium. However, the data does not impart functionality to either the data as claimed or to the computer. As such, the claimed invention recites non-functional descriptive material, i.e., mere data. Non-functional descriptive material is merely carried on the medium, it is not structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium, and thereby does not manipulate, or execute, appropriate subject matter, and thus cannot constitute a statutory process (MPEP Section 2106).

2.3 Furthermore, claim 6 is determined to not meet the criteria for a statutory process due to the description on page 12 of the specification, wherein "the computer program product may be stored/distributed on a suitable medium, including wireless telecommunication systems." The examiner respectfully posits that a reasonable interpretation of this definition of the computer program product could be described as encompassing a wireless distribution medium that encodes a data signal. In view of the guidelines for 101 subject matter, the wireless medium, having software for reconstructing a surface of an object, does not manipulate appropriate subject matter, and thus cannot constitute a statutory process under 35 U.S.C. § 101.

Allowed Claims

3. Claims 1-13 are deemed allowable over the prior art of record at this time, pending resolution of any rejections noted above, because the prior art does not specifically disclose the claimed method for deriving a reconstruction result (i.e. reconstructing a surface of an object).

Response Guidelines

4. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 3 (three) months and 0 (zero) days from the date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will cause the application to become abandoned (see MPEP 710.02, 710.02(b)).

4.1 Any response to the Examiner in regard to this non-final action should be directed to: Russell Frejd, telephone number (571) 272-3779, Monday-Friday from 0530 to 1400 ET, or the examiner's supervisor, Kamini Shah, telephone number (571) 272-2279. Inquires of a general nature or relating to the status of this application should be directed to the TC2100 Group Receptionist (571) 272-2100.

mailed to: Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
